HIT ON THE BATTLEFIELD.

General Miles Tells of the Sensations Produced by Gunshot Wounds.

"You have been wounded several times, general. How does it feel to be shot?"

"That depends upon where the ball strikes you," replied General Miles. "If it passes through the fleshy part of the body without hitting the bone, it is a half mile away before you realize that you are shot. If it meets with resistance, however, you get the full force of the bullet, and it strikes you like a sledge hammer. I was shot in the neck. The ball cut along the side of my throat, under my ear and passed on. At Chancellorsville a ball struck my waist belt plate, and then, deflecting, went into the body. The blow paralyzed me. I could not move for weeks from my waist downward, and every one thought I would die. I was taken home to Massachusetts, and after a few days I surprised the doctors by moving, my right foot. They took this for a sign that the ball was in the opposite side of the body and probed for it, laying the bone of my hip bare. They found the bone broken and took out nine pieces, leaving one, which they failed to find. They found the bullet several inches further down than these pieces of broken bone.

"At another time I was wounded in the shoulder by the ball of a bullet. I was holding my sword up to my shoulder when the bullet struck the edge of the blade and was cut in two, one half of the bullet flying on and the other going into my shoulder. At another time I was wounded in the foot, the ball striking a Mexican spur that I was wearing and going off into my foot. By the way, I think I have the spur."

Here the general opened a drawer in his desk and pulled out a big Mexican spur, which was broken on one side. The break was caused by the bullet striking the spur.—Bloomington (Ill.) Post-Graphic.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND.

Annihilation of the British Empire From a French Point of View.

As a specimen of rapid writing in the French press I give a passage from an article I once read in Le Matin:

"The English empire in India is now a spectacle of extortion, rapine, famine and bankruptcy. All crumble into ruins—towns, villages, reservoirs and public works, temples and towers; the railways pass through deserted villages and dilapidated towns; the ordinary highways are impracticable—it is impossible to use a carriage 15 miles outside of Calcutta. The English have made a purely superficial conquest of these vast regions. They do not live there; they are only exiles; their children die there, and with their gross bodies—all flesh and blood—they cannot acclimatize themselves there. India is for them a place of exile, a tropical Siberia, which they escape from as soon as possible; they are equally detested by the Hindus and the Mussulmans. The future of this implacable hatred makes the lives of the conquerors. One day when Russia blows upon this castle of cards it must fall immediately, and England of the British channel will perish through India. Asia will cease to be a sterile and withered branch of humanity. Once escaped from the vampires of London, she will revive and awake to a new existence. The Russian conquest on the banks of the Ganges will be the signal for the downfall of the Anglo-Saxon power in both hemispheres. Nothing will remain standing in the parent country—aristocracy and church, commerce and industry, will simultaneously disappear."

The writer, having thus annihilated the British empire and distributed her colonies "among the great powers," goes on to predict that "a new hour will then have struck for the human race," etc.—National Review.

Gin in His Boots.

Just outside of the Grand Central depot a reporter met an Adirondack guide last night. It was the guide's first visit to New York, and he had a little piece of advice that he wanted published. It was based on his own experience. "Don't drink around all day," he said, "and go to bed but your pavement is hard. It's a hard triumph over corduroy. I tell you my boots hurt me bad. Do you know what a day? No? Well, now, here is something for you to tell your friends, and I'll do them good. I went to the prairie, taken and bought a golden rod. I got half in one boot and half in the other, and then, when that old fellow around a little while, they didn't hurt me. I learned that trick when I was in a bog and drove cattle up in Canada."—New York Sun.

PROGRESS.

People who get the greatest degree of comfort and real enjoyment out of life, are those who make the most out of their opportunities.

Quick perception and good judgment, lead such promptly to adopt and make use of those refined and improved products of modern inventive genius which best serve the needs of their physical being. Accordingly, the most intelligent and progressive people are found to employ the most refined and perfect laxative to regulate and tone up the stomach, liver, and bowels, when in need of such an agent—hence the great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are made from the purest, most refined and concentrated vegetable extracts, and from forty-two to forty-four are contained in each vial, which is sold at the same price as the cheaper and more ordinary pills found in the market. In curative virtues, there is no comparison to be made between them and the ordinary pills, as any one may easily learn by sending for a free sample, (four to seven doses) of the Pellets, which will be sent on receipt of name and address on a postal card.

ONCE USED THEY ARE ALWAYS IN FAVOR.

The Pellets cure Biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, constiveness, or constipation, sour stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Put up in glass vials, therefore always fresh and reliable. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic. As a "dinner pill" to promote digestion, take one each day after dinner. To relieve distress from over-eating, they are unequalled. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules; any child will readily take them. Accept no substitute that may be recommended to be "just as good." It may be better for the dealer, because of paying him a better profit, but he is not the one who needs help. CURATIVE CULTURE.

Sensible, Scientific and Health-Giving Methods of Living.

Mrs. Helen Stafford of San Francisco will deliver a free private lecture to ladies to-morrow afternoon at Clough & Crosby's Hall—subject, "Curative Physical Culture." Every lady and girl in town should consider it a privilege to listen to this gifted lady, who is considered the most able and instructive lecturer on the human body. Mrs. Stafford comes highly recommended by the Matrons of O. E. S., Rebekahs of I. O. O. F., Relief Corps of G. A. R. and prominent ladies, gentlemen, fathers and mothers all over the country—wherever she has been. The lecture begins promptly at 2 o'clock.

No medicine.
No operations.

The Santa Cruz Surf has the following to say concerning Mrs. Stafford: Mrs. Stafford comes to Santa Cruz with testimonials and a record of cures performed and knowledge imparted that give confidence in her skill and power, but more than all, a talk with the lady, who is herself an exponent of what she teaches, convinces the seeker after power and better ways of living that this beautiful and healthful woman has by her researches and experience evolved a mode of treatment for the ill, of living for the well, which shall confer upon them and continue indefinitely that boon of health for which the miser would sacrifice his gold, and which is the greatest blessing of the poor, of the wage-earner and of the over-worked mother and wife everywhere.

Left herself, without abundant resources and with impaired health and strength, Mrs. Stafford set herself to study what was best to be done, best for her to do. She went to the dissecting room, under the teaching of a practical physician, and there learned the sad story of what a system of false living does the body. The effects of the corset upon women and mothers, of wrong food and drink, of drugs, of the knife of the surgeon, of lack of proper exercise and air, revealed themselves to her in the degradation of the tissues, the bone, the muscles and all the organs of the unfortunate ones who came under the knife in these studies.

So, Mrs. Stafford reasoned, there must be something radically wrong in our method of living. Step by step with her own person as the experimental subject, this woman learned the deep lessons of life, and regained for herself mental and physical vigor, strength, health and happiness. That she should take as her life work the imparting of this beneficent knowledge to her sister women, many of whom suffer even more than she did, was a natural sequence. She has evolved a system of scientific curative and preventive physical exercises which touch and bring into action every muscle in the body; baths to be taken hygienically; proper food to build up tissues, and all this without resort to materia medica or to the knife.

Mrs. Stafford's testimonials are almost numberless and include cases of the most advanced types of diseases which she has conquered by this enlightened and natural method. Mrs. Stafford contends that if each generation of humanity would take proper care of its own by this system of physical culture there need be no such thing as illness in the land.

Mrs. Stafford can be consulted at the private parlors of the Golden Eagle Hotel.

A Merchant's Meeting.

The merchants of Reno are called to meet at Thompson's Hall on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The meeting is called to discuss the recent freight schedule which was put in force on January 1st by the Southern Pacific. The question is an important one to the merchants and it is hoped there will be a full attendance.

Reply to Laborer.
EDITOR JOURNAL—I find in your paper this morning an article that is of more or less personal interest to myself, namely the one signed "Laborer," and as you so kindly throw your columns open for an explanation to "Laborer's" query, I will take advantage of your offer.

Of course I do not know who "Laborer" is or whether the assumed name is at all applicable to himself. Under the circumstances I must class him, however, as one of those contemptible individuals who, behind the cowardly shield of an assumed nom de plume, attempts to besmirch the character or impugn the motives of others. I may misjudge him, if so I sincerely apologize, but as he has adopted the methods of sneaks he must not complain if he is misclassified "Laborer" says:

"Of what use is a District Attorney in Washoe county, if Washoe county is compelled to employ Torreyson & Summerfield whenever Washoe county has a case at law?"
Now, Mr. Editor, I should not have replied to "Laborer" (for the reason that I believe as a general rule that articles signed with nom de plumes are beneath notice), had you not seen fit to endorse his query. In the first place I believe that every intelligent person in the county knows that Torreyson & Summerfield have been retained by Washoe county to assist the District Attorney upon but one other occasion, besides this recent employment in the tax suit against the V. & T. R. R.

With regard to that first hiring of the attorneys mentioned and which resulted in the collection of $4,234.87 back taxes from the S. P. R. R., I have only this to say; that you, Mr. Kelley, was chairman of the committee of the Grand Jury which investigated the matter and that the Grand Jury, after hearing the facts in the case summarily dismissed the whole proceeding, thereby in effect endorsing what was done. Since then there have appeared in the JOURNAL over nom de plume signatures and otherwise frequent covert insinuations that the transaction was iniquitous, every one of which, in view of the fact that you were a member of that Grand Jury and chairman of that committee, stamps you as either desirous of falsely attempting to impugn the virtue of those who caused Torreyson & Summerfield to be retained, or condemns you while a public servant, paid a per diem by the people and under oath to investigate and report wrong, who lacked the moral courage to perform the duties required by your oath as a Grand Juror. If there was wrong committed in the transaction, as a Grand Juror you violated your oath and public duty by shielding it. If the transaction was commendable and expedient, which must be inferred from the fact of its endorsement by the Grand Jury, you have been willfully unjust to those who were participants in the matter.

As to their employment to assist me in the present case it was after thorough consideration and with the unanimous approval of the Board of Commissioners. As to the tax suit against the V. & T. R. R. I do not hesitate to say that it is one of the most important cases that this county and State has had to deal with in many years. The Board of Commissioners have looked at the matter as business men should and as good business men would. The last Legislature passed an amendment to the general revenue act which is largely if not wholly responsible for the present suit, and the construction which the Court may put upon it is of vital importance to the State; the amount of money involved may be as nothing to what the effect of the decision will be upon revenue matters in the future. This bill, which I have no doubt was the pet measure of all the railroad's representatives, some of whom, I am informed, now denounce the Board for hiring attorneys to assist in prosecuting the case made necessary by their action. The case will probably be fought long and hard by the railroad company, which doubtless will spend from two to ten times as much money in its defense as the county or State will in its prosecution. Had it not been for the amendment of the last Legislature, if the county recovers at all, it would receive $2,246.60 in penalties over and above the amount of the tax. Whether it can do so now remains to be seen, for this case will determine the vital revenue question as to whether or not under the present law penalties can be collected on delinquent taxes. Mr. "Laborer" has no greater desire that the affairs of the county be conducted in an honest and business like manner than I, and I can sincerely state that I have never asked for assistance in any case since I have been in office when the request was not essential and expedient to further the best interests of the people of this county. Very respectfully,

F. H. NORDROSS.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 189 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this remedy for coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 50c, and $1.

Lots of Talk.

About Parks' Cough Syrup is what we desire. Everyone who tries this remedy says that it has no equal in the cure of all diseases of the throat and lungs. We know it will cure any cold and do it in the shortest possible time. You don't know this, but you will agree with us if you only try one bottle of Parks' Cough Syrup. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Wrought Cure and Built Up System.

"Two years ago my little daughter Elsie, was afflicted with ulcerated eyes. I tried one of the best doctors in the city for about a year but her eyes seemed to grow worse. I had her treated by an oculist but his treatment did not benefit them. I then commenced to give the little one Hood's Sarsaparilla and after the first bottle I could see that there was great improvement. Elsie is now nine years old. Besides benefiting the special trouble mentioned, Hood's Sarsaparilla has made her a strong and upright child. I will always speak highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. H. A representative of the JOURNAL accepted the invitation of Regents Fish and Starrett to visit the State University yesterday. Arriving at the grounds the place seemed like a beehive though the handsome uniforms of the students gave it somewhat the appearance of a military camp. Early in the winter, it will be remembered,

MECHANICAL HALL

The only wooden structure on the grounds, "was burned, destroying the machinery as well as the building. The Board of Regents immediately decided to apply the amount for which the property was insured toward erecting a new building, which is to be known as "the Annex to Mechanical Hall," as it is the intention to erect a larger building adjoining it as soon as circumstances will warrant the outlay. A contract was let to O. E. Clough, and in twenty-eight days, in the depth of winter, he has erected a brick building 30 by 50 feet, one story high, with a brick partition through the center. The main building to be erected at a future day will be 40 by 106 feet and two stories high.

QUARTZ MILL AND SMELTER.

Below the "Annex" Professor Jackson, with student labor, has completed a building 30 by 50 feet, to be used for a quartz mill and smelter, at a cost of $100. It is a frame, covered with corrugated iron, which had been through the fire. There is a four-stamp battery, amalgamating pans, smelter, engine, boiler, etc., and when completed will be a model little mill. Professor Jackson is an experienced metallurgist and the students are taught the practical reduction of ores by the various methods. Some of the graduates from this department have charge of reduction works in Mexico, South Africa and British Columbia. When work is resumed in the mines of Nevada, as it will be sooner or later, there will be demand for the young metallurgists who are now receiving instructions in this department.

THE GYMNASIUM.

The gymnasium is a brick building 60 by 120 and 20 feet from floor to ceiling. It has buttressed walls, Oregon pine trusses and roof and looks strong enough to resist a battering ram. There are 8,000 feet of floor. The under floor is pine and the upper floor white maple. It is the largest hall in the State. It was built by the Faculty and students, who gave entertainments and raised money enough for the purpose by their own exertions and some assistance from popular subscription. George Booth did the brick work, C. E. Clough the carpenter work, and the students are laying the floor and doing it well.

LINCOLN HALL.

This is the handsomest and most imposing structure on the University grounds. It was built by Richard Ryland under the supervision of F. M. Schadler, architect, who, by the way, attended the University some years ago and graduated from an engineering school in San Francisco. The center of the building is 44 by 70 feet, with wings 29 by 69 feet each, and two stories high with basement and attic. The center is surmounted by a ventilating tower 65 feet high. There is a granite archway at the front entrance, and an arcade 70 feet long and 12 feet wide. It has a granite water table, belt course, quoins, copings and window sills. The arcade has brick piers and arches with granite trimmings. The stone was prepared by J. M. McCormack, and is what is called rock-faced work. There are eight granite steps 12 feet wide from the ground to the arcade. To the left of the front entrance there is a handsome reading room. There are also the master's rooms on this floor and twelve rooms for students. There are altogether 51 rooms for students, each being about 12 by 16 feet and 10 feet high. The rooms are furnished with marble washstands, two closets, with a drawer and three shelves in each. There is a table, two chairs, two metal bedsteads, furnished with spring and hair mattresses, in each room and the rooms are heated by hot water and lighted by gas and electricity. On each floor there is a lavatory, two porcelain lined bath tubs, with all the modern improvements.

THE GIRLS' COTTAGE.

Which is situated west of the old buildings, is being erected by Burke Brothers, and when completed will have rooms for the President's family and accommodations for forty-five girls. It will be furnished similar to Lincoln Hall, and will be a handsome edifice.

THE OLD BUILDINGS

The old buildings are Morrill Hall, 50 by 80 feet, three stories high with basement; Hatch Station, owned by the General Government, 40 by 50, two stories high with annex 22 by 29 feet; and the mining building, 40 by 50 feet, three stories.

Professor Brown of the Mechanical school, where students are taught practical trades, is supervising architect of all the new buildings and is one of the busiest men in the State. He has young mechanics at work in the several buildings, and he has quite a corps of mechanics, blacksmiths and carpenters in his department.
